Program Overview:

The Soccer Performance Program is based on the small group–high focus concept and it allows Elite’s highly qualified and experienced coaches to properly assess the participants and give instruction that is specific to them. We will combine dynamic soccer drills with advanced theory about aspects of the game that will help the players understand the game of soccer much better. Each participant will receive written feedback at the end of the program, which will include an assessment of their performance in the week and specific areas of the game to focus on.

The lead instructor of this program is Jeff Clarke, Surrey United Technical Director, and the coaching staff will consist of members of the Surrey United Technical Staff including Kim McMullen (Whitecaps Women’s team 2008 – present), Tyler Rosenlund (Toronto FC player 2008) and many other quality instructors.
